Become involved!

There are challenges ahead towards establishing Queer Peace International. We need dedicated members like you to help out.

- ▶ We need to broaden our outreach to many more countries to may need to discuss appropriate ways of achieving peace within their communities.
- ▶ Fundraising and other resource development.
- ▶ We need to build our website so that can host contributions such as articles, surveys, pictures, lesson plans, poems, etc. So please contribute!
- ▶ Represent Queer issues at forthcoming conferences and public events.
- ▶ Join our international board of directors, so that you can be a part of a historical process!

Our Mission Statement and Core Values

Queer Peace International, founded in 2004, is committed to promoting peace, diversity and equality for lesbian, gay, bisexual, and trans-identified individuals. Through research, training and outreach projects in developing countries, we work with current programs and policy-makers in international development, re-construction and humanitarian assistance.

Queer Peace International envisions equal and fair access and treatment of all lesbians, gay men, bisexuals, and trans-identified in the education, health and social sectors of society. As international investment in each of these sectors continues to outreach and define itself, Queer citizens deserve to access resources that encourage human development, and which are currently available to other marginalized groups.

We work in solidarity with all minorities and women to further guarantee inclusiveness in social change.

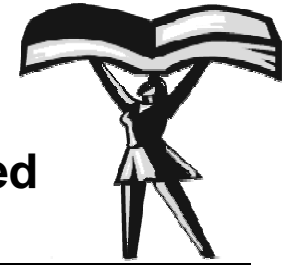

What is Queer Peace International?

Queer Peace International brings together Queer voices from multiple spectrums of the globe to help build sustainable change, conciliation, and peace. Its members come from an array of communities, cultures and identities. Everyone can join and access Queer Peace International and be a part of the relevance it possesses.

Activities could include:

- ▶ Helping to organize trainings that explore new methods of outreach, organization, and shared learning.
- ▶ Meet with development and/or aid organizations about their Queer mandates in their work, and follow-up with action.
- ▶ Facilitating a research project alongside local individuals about being Queer under certain conditions, and providing the information to relevant organizations.
- ▶ Representing Queer perspectives at consortiums and conferences.

What have we accomplished so far?

- ▶ QPI has established a working group of Queer Community Workers around the world who are committed towards achieving Queer Peace through an online forum.
- ▶ QPI has been spoken at differing events, including university conferences, lectures and international gatherings.
- ▶ Networked with like-minded organizations that possess development mandates to raise the awareness of a definitive Queer Perspective on peace.
- ▶ Established a strong, highly-skilled volunteer base to continue building QPI's existence.
- ▶ Travelled to difficult regions to deliver training to Queer groups on organizational management, peer education/counselling, and other vital areas to ensure sustainable development.

...and a lot more!
